

All Things Payroll

Leave Provisions Revisited & Payday Super Updates

Presented by Glynn Flaherty, Payroll Matters.

Glynn will guide you through the latest Payday Super compliance requirements, from getting Qualifying Earnings right to understanding how IR Super obligations flow through to STP disclosures, plus how to handle high-income earners and rejected super contributions.

We'll then revisit leave provisions across the board, from annual and personal leave through to family and domestic violence, community service, purchased and parental leave, giving you a practical refresher on entitlements every payroll professional needs to apply with confidence.

Session Details

Date: Thursday, 22nd October 2026

Time: 14:00 – 16:00 (AEDT)

Platform: GoTo Webinar

Overview

This session will bring you up to date with Payday Super compliance requirements and give you a practical refresher on leave provisions and long service leave accruals.

Topics include:

- Payday Super compliance:
 - Getting Qualifying Earnings (QE) right
 - How your IR Super obligations impact STP disclosures
 - High income earners
 - Dealing with rejected super contributions
- Leave provisions revisited, including:
 - Annual, Personal and Compassionate leave
 - Family and Domestic Violence leave
 - Community Services and Purchased leave
 - Parental leave

Who should attend?

All individuals involved in payroll operations or anyone seeking updated payroll knowledge are encouraged to attend this session.

Pricing

$440 inc GST per attendee.

FAQs

What happens if I am sick and cannot attend on the day of the session/s?

If you can no longer attend a session because of illness or a work responsibility, you can still be sent the recording.

An automatic email with a link to the recording will be sent 24-48 after the session has been completed. However, you MUST register for the event to receive this recording.

If I can no longer attend the session, can I ask a colleague to attend in my place?

Yes, you can. However, you will need to contact APAC.learningservices@theaccessgroup.com to update our systems and therefore the attendance list.

Can I share the registration link/s with my work colleagues?

No, you cannot share the registration links.

Why not?

A booking confirmation email/registration link is for one individual only. You may substitute your booking with a colleague. However, sharing will result in charging your company for additional 'seats'.

We will monitor attendance and who has paid for their 'seat' for each session.

Please view our Terms and Conditions for further information.

Support

Customer Support

<https://www.theaccessgroup.com/en-au/support/>

Training Queries and Bookings

William.hogan@theaccessgroup.com

Learning Services Queries and Assistance

APAC.learningservices@theaccessgroup.com

